

CREATIVE WRITING WORKSHOP

Instructor: C. Adán Cabrera, MFA

8 session workshop, October 3 – November 17

Tuesday, 19.30-2130

180€

Students enrolled in this eight-session creative writing workshop will begin by briefly reviewing the craft of writing in the three major genres (poetry, fiction, and nonfiction). The workshop's main focus will be on student writing, but students will also be encouraged to explore their own creative process and progress by way of optional readings. Our course will be structured using writing exercises and in-depth discussions of student writing. Students will learn how to talk about writing, sharpen their craft, practice active reading, and produce and workshop at least two full-length pieces in whatever genre(s) they choose. Moreover, students will also have the opportunity to publicly read their work at a special COLLAGE reading at the course's conclusion. This intimate, two-hour workshop is geared toward both beginning writers as well as more experienced writers who want to jumpstart their writing.

C. ADÁN CABRERA is the author of the upcoming book of short stories called Books Can Only Take You So Far (Editorial Trance, 2016). Among other publication credits, his writing has appeared in Kweli, BorderSenses, The Acentos Review, Switchback, Being Latino, and From Macho to Mariposa: New Gay Latino Fiction. A 2011 Lambda Literary Fellow, Carlos holds an MFA from the University of San Francisco and a bachelor's degree in English from UCLA, both with distinction. Originally from Los Angeles, he currently lives and works in Barcelona and is hard at work editing his next collection of short stories, The Last Day of Summer.
